

Quintessential Careers Real World Clinic

Career Workshops

Resume Q&A

You'll want to bring your resume to this informative and highly interactive session! Resume basics -- and advanced techniques - - are discussed, but the main benefit from attending this seminar is having your resume questions answered and your resume critiqued as part of this dynamic program. You'll also see examples of effective and ineffective resumes.

How to Wow Them in the Job Interview

Employers and hiring managers complain that one of the biggest weaknesses of college student and college grad interviewees is a lack of understanding and preparation at the job interview. This session will cover everything you need to know about interviewing, from preparation and planning beforehand, to tactics for nailing the interview, and additionally, things you need to do after the interview.

Networking for Success

Did you know that most job-seekers get their jobs through networking? Are you as confused as so many others are about how to effectively network in your job and career search? Networking is an amazing tool to help uncover job leads and learn more about career fields, but it is also the most misunderstood aspect of job-hunting. This informative seminar removes the mystique of networking and shows you not only why it works, but how it works.

About Quintessential Careers

Quintessential Careers (QuintCareers.com) is the leading career and job-search Website, with more than 2,500 pages of free content. We're your career site... today... tomorrow... forever!

About the Presenters

Dr. Randall Hansen is Founder of Quintessential Careers, as well as publisher of its electronic newsletter, QuintZine. He writes a biweekly career advice column under

Friday, November 3 2006 * 11 AM – 3 PM * LBC Rinker Auditorium